

DESCRIPTION:

This hands-on training course is targeted at advanced users, report authors and administrators of the COMMANDperformance product. In this course, attendees will take deep look at the new data load features as well as report authoring and dashboard capabilities. Importing data from other sources will be introduced as well as the new mapping features. This class will cover the application topics noted below in detail.

NOTES:

This class will build on the concepts presented in the Introduction to Cognos Analytics class but will still be suited to users that do not attend that class.
